

SPEAKER

Dr. Lieblich graduated from Rutgers University (Highest Honors, 1977) and the University of Pennsylvania School of Dental Medicine (1981). He completed his residency in oral and maxillofacial surgery at Kings County/Downstate

Medical Center in New York. Currently, he is in private practice in Avon, CT and maintains a part-time teaching appointment at the University of Connecticut as Clinical Professor. At UCONN he lectures to the medical and dental students on head and neck anatomy (with special focus on the temporomandibular joint and the anatomy of orthognathic surgery) and also to the various postgraduate residency programs. He is on the medical staff at Hartford Hospital, Connecticut Children's Medical Center, St. Francis Hospital, John Dempsey Hospital (University of Connecticut Health Center) and Charlotte Hungerford Hospital (head, section of oral and maxillofacial surgery).

Dr. Lieblich has been a contributor to over 20 textbooks and recently co-authored the textbook Anesthesia Complications in the Dental Office with Dr. Robert Bosack. He is an invited speaker at conferences throughout the United States and has presented his research at international scientific meetings with focuses on ambulatory anesthesia, dental implants, dentoalveolar surgery and periapical surgery. Previously he has served as a director and president of the American Dental Society of Anesthesiology and following a 6-year term as a member of the examination committee of the American Board of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery (chair of the medicine and anesthesia sections) he was elected to an eight year term of the ABOMS board of directors (President 2009-2010). Dr. Lieblich is on the editorial boards of the journals Anesthesia Progress; Oral Surgery, Oral Medicine Oral Pathology ("Triple O") and the Journal of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery (section editor, Anesthesia/facial pain).

PRESENTATION

The provision of ambulatory anesthesia is a vital component to the practice of oral and maxillofacial surgery. A contemporary review of anesthesia as practiced by the oral surgeon including a discussion of patient evaluation, medications and determining who can be treated in an office setting will be discussed. Actual case scenarios will be reviewed to illustrate various issues throughout the day. Included in the discussions will be some recommendations on local anesthetic use and integrating oral sedation into an oral surgery practice.

PRESENTATION OUTLINE

- Patient evaluation and selection for office anesthesia
- Cardiovascular issues: hyper/hypotension; dysrhythmias
- Respiratory urgencies and emergencies
- Top "Stupid" anesthetic mistakes
- Oral sedation for the OMFS

COURSE OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this program the participant will:

- 1) Understand basic medical aspects of common systemic diseases, including cardiovascular disease, diabetes, neurologic, and immunologic diseases and how they impact on our anesthesia options.
- 2) Review common and some uncommon medical and anesthetic emergencies that may occur in the office.
- 3) Provide oral sedation techniques specific for the oral surgery practice.
- 4) Review management protocols of common medical emergencies that may occur in the office via actual case-based scenarios.
